

Education in Emergencies (EiE) Online

Education in Emergencies (EiE) Online is an open-access self-directed learning series primarily designed to help education in emergencies (EiE) and education practitioners improve their overall understanding of EiE or their knowledge of specific EiE topics in line with the modules and course units offered.

EiE Online may also serve as a useful resource for those working in other areas but wanting to improve their understanding of the sector by diving into this intermediate-level content.

EiE Online courses range from one to twelve learning hours, depending on the topic. Learners can earn HPass digital badges by completing the learning content and assessment activity at the end.

The EiE Online learning series explicitly links to the INEE Competency Framework and can be used to help address many of the competencies presented in it. The content can be accessed as individual course units, individual modules or, once complete, as a standalone course.

EiE Online is used as foundational learning for the blended EiE Fundamentals course and the EiE Advanced course accredited by the University of Geneva.

What our learners have to say

Over 7500 learners have accessed the EiE Online learning series so far in the four languages in which content is available – English, Arabic, French and Spanish.

“It’s very informative, well-constructed, very relevant programmatic, based on field realities, as I have experienced. The knowledge is highly transferable to other contexts.”

How do I sign up?

EiE Online courses are also available in French, Spanish and Arabic, with Ukrainian response languages coming soon.
